Alleah C. Hilker

Recently joining the Legasus Group, LC team, Alleah Hilker has over seven years experience working in family-owned businesses. Hailing from a small family business in western Kansas, Alleah brings in-depth knowledge on what it takes to maintain a successful family business. Her background includes office administration, employee training, and managing client relationships.

Alleah brings a lot of energy and enthusiasm to the team. During the last two years she spent time working in community mental health where she assisted adults in engaging the community system, learning innovative ways to complete daily tasks, and addressing perceptions and stereotypes. Alleah utilizes these experiences to assert and maintain balance in the uncertain times family-owned businesses find themselves facing.

Alleah earned her undergraduate degree from Oklahoma State University in Stillwater, OK, where she earned degrees in both Political Science and Psychology. Alleah continues her education at Friend's University where she is completing her Master's of Business Law.

In addition to enjoying scuba diving in the Caribbean, Alleah enjoys returning home to visit her family in Cimarron, KS where she was raised, and watching her brother play college football.
